NANKING FEARS RAID FROM AIR AND GAS ATTACK

Citizens Instructed What to Do in Case of Gas Attacks

Nanking, Aug. 6.—(AP)—China's Capital verged on war fever tonight while Japanese bluejackets in Hankow, central China's great trading center far up the Yangtze, feverishly evacuated their people and faced Chinese soldiers across street barricades.

A Nanking air defense association bought gas masks, trained its members, and told the people what to do in the case of bombs or gas attacks.

Such simple directions were necessary because most of Nanking's more than a million people do not have money for masks.

"Be prepared," said one city-wide slogan, "the enemy airplanes are expected to drop bombs momentarily."

Thus actual preparations for participation in the month-old undeclared war spread afar from its Peiping cradle.

Japs Evacuating

All Japanese in Japan's Hankow concession and nearby areas were ordered to concentrate at the Yangtze river waterfront for wholesale evacuation, which was to be completed tonight. River steamers are carrying the Japanese down to Shanghai.

Three hundred Japanese marines were ashore at Hankow, Chinese troops in and near the city were estimated at 30,000. Japanese Marines and Chinese infantry men in full war kit were facing each other across barricades only the width of a street apart.

The Tokyo war office said the Japanese naval forces on the Yangtze had taken special measures to meet Chinese attack after the Chinese had surrounded the Hankow Japanese concession. Chinese forces, it was said, built trenches and broke communications lines leading from the Japanese concession.

Americans Warned

The United States Consul-General at Hankow, according to dispatches to Nanking, advised all Americans in that part of his consular district north of the Yellow river, to withdraw southward to places of safety.

This action followed closely an official Japanese intimation that the North China zone of hostilities might extend southward to the Yellow river, the natural boundary between North and Central China.

The opposing forces along the Peiping-Hankow railroad were reported to be rapidly nearing a meeting. A Japanese column 60 miles to the east was drawing nearer to Chinese forces advancing on the railroad from Pukow.

To the north of Peiping a clash was considered imminent along the Great Wall.

The isolation of Peiping, now completely under the domination of the armies seeking to bring all North China under Japanese influence, was broken with the departure of the first train for Tientsin. Service on the Peiping-Tientsin line has been interrupted throughout the month-old undeclared war for possession of the area.

One hundred Americans and other foreigners were aboard the train. Most of the Americans were visitors who had been stranded in the historic Manchurian capital by the crisis.

PARLIAMENT ASSURED

Tokyo, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Koki Hirota assured the Japanese parliament today that the United States government "is carefully guarding against" reported attacks.

In 68 Days

Mount Carmel, Ill., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Around the world in 68 days was the record of a letter mailed here in May by H. J. Leach during "air mail week in Illinois."

He addressed the letter first to Hongkong, China, with instructions to forward it to Paris and then to Illinois.

Leach said a letter he sent 40 years ago required more than three months to make the circuit.

SALES OF THOSE DEMOCRATIC COM. BOOKS IS PROBED

Sen. Vandenberg Introduces Interesting Letter at Hearing

Washington, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Robert R. Young, New York railway magnate, told senate investigators today it was "ridiculous" to suggest that he hoped to influence them by contributing $15,000 to the Democratic campaign fund.

He testified before the senate railroad finance committee that he was "just as indignant as you are" to learn that half of his donations had been taken as commission by the solicitors who sold him 150 Democratic national convention books.

"I would much rather have given $7,500 directly to the Democratic National Committee," he declared heatedly.

"My understanding was that the books would cost only about $20 and that the rest of the $15,000 would go to the party."

Contractor Threatened (?)

While he testified Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) made public what he said was a letter from a Lancaster, Pa., contractor to the Democratic National Committee. It demanded return of a $250 contribution the writer asserted was made "under veiled threats."

The contractor, D. S. Wartel, wrote he contributed the sum because "I really feared some reprisals might be made if I did not go along."

Chairman Wheeler (D-Mont.) interrupted the senate's rail hearing for the third successive day to question Young about his campaign contribution. The committee is engaged in an inquiry into the youthful financier's plans for reorganizing the huge Van Sweringen railway system.

J. M. B. Hoxsey, New York Stock Exchange listing expert, testified that it was "unwise to give any countenance" to a pending plan for reorganizing the 23,000-mile Van Sweringen railway network.

The bespectacled witness told the senate railroad investigating committee that "nothing is accomplished by this plan" to lessen the concentration of power through holding companies.

The reorganization had been deferred before the committee for three days by Young, who recently acquired control of the vast system.

His program calls for a merger of the systems' chief holding companies, Allegheny & Chesapeake Corporation, whose stock and bond holders would take new securities in the consolidated firm.

Mendota Woman is Attacked by Three Men, She Alleges

Chicago, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Police and the state's attorney's sex offense bureau investigated today a complaint by Mrs. Marie Fessler, 42, of Mendota, Ill., that she was attacked by three young men in a garage here.

Assistant State's Attorney Samuel Papanek questioned three youths who he said were not identified by Mrs. Fessler.

She said she was visiting here and last night went to a tavern to bring some beer to her friends' home. An acquaintance offered to drive her home, picked up a second man and drove to the garage where two other men waited, she reported. Three men attacked and beat her, she told police, before she could break away.

ICKES IS GIVEN MORE AUTHORITY HE PLEADED FOR

Senate Votes to Give Him Administration of Housing Act

BULLETIN

Washington, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The senate took up the new lower court reorganization bill today, but postponed debate on the measure until tomorrow.

The bill is the last administration measure awaiting senate action. Leaders hoped it would be approved within a day or two.

Earlier the senate passed an amended housing act and sent it to the house.

The vote was 64 to 16.

The bill would authorize a bond issue of $700,000,000 during the next three years and an initial appropriation of $26,000,000 to make loans and grants to public housing authorities for construction of low-rent dwellings and slum clearance.

The measure was one of the major points in President Roosevelt's legislative program.

BULLETIN

Washington, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The senate re-affirmed today its decision to limit the cost of proposed construction under the Wagner housing bill to $4,000 a family unit or $1,000 a room.

Despite protests from administration leaders that the limit was too low, the senate tabled a motion to reconsider. The amendment was adopted several days ago by a 40-39 vote.

The vote to table was 44 to 39.

BULLETIN

Washington, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The senate voted, after a warm debate today, to put administration of the Wagner housing act under Secretary Ickes' Interior Department.

The chamber adopted, 40 to 37, an amendment giving the department "general supervision" over the housing program. Ickes asked for the provision.

In the debate preceding adoption, Senator Lewis (D-Ill.) supported the amendment, contending creation of a separate agency would be a reflection on the administration by the interior secretary of public works administration housing.

Lewis said he could not conceive of the origin of opposition to putting the new program under Ickes unless it was contractors and suppliers of building materials.

"For New Authority"

Senator Clark (D-Mo.) who had opposed the amendment by Senator Logan (D-Ky.) to place the agency under the interior department, replied that he intended no reflection on Ickes. He said the interior department did not now have anything to do with housing, and the proposal was an effort by the department "to reach out and grab new authority."

Senator Burke (D-Neb.) said the bill was drawn on the theory of creating an independent agency, and if it was to be placed under interior, the bill should be sent back to committee and "entirely rewritten on that basis."

Administration leaders negotiated, meanwhile, for lightening of restrictions which the senate has imposed on the bill.

Meet Earlier

While they worked on a compromise, Majority Leader Barkley (D-Ky.) called the senate into session at 10 A. M. (CST), an hour earlier than usual, in order to hasten a vote.

Leaders said they hoped to dispose of a major controversy by (Continued on Page 6)

Baby Taken From Body of Dead Mother Has 'Fair Chance'

BULLETIN

Philadelphia, Aug. 6.—A newborn baby girl, delivered from her dead mother early today stood a "pretty good" chance of living if it survived until tomorrow.

"Of course anything can happen in a case like this," said Dr. John Corbit, resident obstetrician and assistant chief surgeon, who brought the 3½ lb. girl into the world by a Caesarean operation, one minute after her disease-ridden mother, Mrs. Mary Boccassini, 27, had died.

"We cannot tell yet whether it has passed the critical stage," said Dr. Corbit, adding the infant's temperature had been reduced to 101 from 105 at birth.

ESCAPED INJURY

Albert Burns of Chicago escaped injury, but his car was considerably damaged this morning at 6:30 at the entrance to the Borden condenser west of Dixon. Burns attempted to avoid a collision with a truck driven by Orville Gentry, Dixon, route 3, which turned into the drive, and crashed into a pole. The damaged car was hauled to a local garage and Burns reported the accident to the police.

ON SWIMMING TEAM

The September issue of College Humor contains an excellent picture of the young ladies swimming team of Lawrence college at Appleton, Wis., of which Miss Emily Swan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Swan, 214 Morgan st., is a member. The picture was taken of the six young lady students of Lawrence at an inter-society swimming meet held at Alexander gymnasium at Appleton college last spring, in which they were winners of coveted prizes.

BOY BITTEN BY DOG

Jack Foster, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Foster, 320 Jefferson avenue, was badly bitten on the right leg by a dog Thursday evening about 8:30. He was playing games with neighborhood children when the dog, who apparently disliked suffling, attacked the boy, sinking its teeth into his leg, where it held fast until a neighbor, John Blackburn, came to the rescue. A physician was summoned immediately and dressed the wound. The dog it was learned, had been treated against rabies several months ago and no severe complications are anticipated.

Father Misunderstood

Doctors who understood that Boccassini opposed a post mortem operation, asked G. Coe Farrier, assistant city solicitor, for an opinion yesterday, who told the doctors they could operate as soon as the woman died.

Later the husband hurried from his work as a laborer to the hospital and said he had been misunderstood.

He said he did not want the operation performed while his wife lived "because she has suffered too much already."

One in Canada

Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 6.—(AP)—A post-mortem baby born here May 17 apparently was thriving today under the care of her father and a four-year-old sister.

She is Seraphine Antoinette Sordie, born eight minutes after her mother died with a serious kidney ailment.

Alleged Whipper-Terrorist Rapist Being Questioned

Chicago, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Fred Purdy, 27, was questioned by police today in connection with activities of a whipper-terrorist who attacked women in the Austin district more than a year ago.

Sgt. John Greer said Purdy had been sought for several months for questioning in the whipper attacks.

In his room police found two whips and several erotic pictures.

Nurse Delivers 1700 Babies in 32 Years Without Help

Zion, Ill., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Miss Ellen M. Lloyd, 62, obstetrical nurse for the Christian Catholic church, today attended her 1700 delivery in 32 years—all without the services of a physician.

Only seven of the mothers died, according to church records, but the infant mortality, while said to be low, was not known exactly.

Eight-pound Stephanie Leone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephan Ball, was baby No. 1700.

Filial Love (?)

Chicago, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Michael F. Petric, 51, reported to police today that his son, who he claimed was a chauffeur for the late John Dillinger, entered his home and robbed him of $300.

Petric, who said he had not seen his son since June, told police that he was asleep when Stephen, 23, and his wife, Anna, 22, entered his apartment.

He awakened, he said, to find Stephen bending over him with a pistol in his hand.

HORST TO FIGHT TO FINISH FOR BOY, HE STATES

Retains Lawyers, Says He Will Spend His Last Nickel If Needed

Chicago, Aug. 6.—(AP)—A city attorney began an investigation of a doctor's alleged falsification of a birth record today as Donald Horst's real and foster mothers mapped a legal fight for custody of the 31-month-old abduction victim.

The birth record, issued by Dr. John A. Rose, was uncovered after Donald was snatched Tuesday from the arms of Mrs. Martha Horst by John Regan and Lydia Nelson, the boy's natural parents. The child was surrendered the next day and placed in an orphanage pending settlement of the custody dispute.

Corporation Counsel Barnett Hodes said the board of health had notified him Dr. Rose filed a certificate stating the child was born to Mrs. Horst although he actually was born to Miss Nelson at an address different from the one on the document.

Dr. Rose is a business associate of Otto Horst, who Donald knows as "daddy."

Will Spend Everything

Horst, announcing he had retained John E. Johnson, an assistant state's attorney general, for the custody battle, said "I'll spend every nickel I have to get the boy back."

Regan and Miss Nelson, his common law wife, likewise sought legal aid. Miss Nelson said her husband had a good job now, and that they were entitled to their child, given in adoption at birth because of lack of funds. No adoption papers were signed, however.

Still missing in the strange case that turned suddenly from one of kidnapping to a quarrel over custody was Fred Ewert, employee of Dr. Rose. He aided the Regans in locating their child's foster parents in forcibly taking the boy from the Horst home.

Minneapolis Auto Agencies Damaged in Strikers' Riot

Minneapolis, Aug. 6.—(AP)—A crowd of men estimated at 200 raided two automobile agencies involved in a strike of automobile salesmen today, smashing cars and fixtures, with damage set by operators at $8,000.

W. R. Stephens said damage to his sales agency, where 15 private cars were wrecked, tires cut and office furniture smashed would total $7,000.

At the nearby Northwest Nash Company, C. S. Conner, president, said rear doors were smashed open and six cars damaged, with loss of $1,000 to $1,500.

Horned in on Birds

Belvidere, Ill., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Belvidere telephone operators who give wrong numbers will not have the excuse in the future that they couldn't hear because of screeching blackbirds and sparrows who made themselves at home in a tree in front of the exchange.

They rigged up an automobile horn in the tree and sounded it at intervals, day and night, until the birds were driven away by the competitive racket. That plan worked after several others failed.

Stephenson County Preacher and Son Burn to Death in Automobile

Glencoe, Minn., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Alvin and Marie had been visiting at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. H. C. Dallman at Hutchinson, Minn., left there this morning to continue a trip west.

A mile west of Glencoe the Winger machine collided with a truck driven by Maurice Winger of Montevideo.

The Winger car burst into flames when the gasoline tank ripped open, spraying the car with gasoline.

Mrs. Winger suffered severe bruises. Winger and his small son riding with him in the truck were uninjured.

JOBLESS YOUTH KILLED MOTHER, 2 SISTERS, SELF

Pittsburgh Scene of Quadruple Tragedy Early This Morning

Pittsburgh, Aug. 6.—(AP)—A young unemployed bookkeeper fatally shot his widowed mother and two sisters and killed himself today with bullets from a new rifle.

Police Inspector Gus Ellen and Lieutenant Edward Kirby said 20-year-old Bernard Gregor murdered the three in the bedrooms of their west end home.

Three notes written by Bernard indicated he was driven to the act by worry over the family.

Another brother, Frank, 27, found the bodies when he came home from work this morning.

The mother, Mrs. Anna Gregor, lay on the floor of her room. In bed in another room were sprawled the bodies of the sisters, Mary Ann, 15, and Betty, 25. Their heads had been pierced by bullets.

The body of Bernard lay at the side of the bed.

One of the notes, found by homicide detectives Fred Good and Edward Scanlon, stated:

Rifle Beside Body

"Oh, if there were some other way than this out of our misery x x x."

Bernard lay near the bed a rifle beside him. The sisters were sprawled close together, bullet wounds in their heads. They were in night clothing.

The body of Mrs. Gregor lay crumpled at the foot of the bed.

Bernard's note, dated August 4, continued:

"At one time or other I've heard all these say something exactly like they wished they were dead."

"So maybe I am right x x x. There is absolutely nothing ahead x x x."

"I am the only one who knows what I intend to do. I told mother to have some kind of a will made out in case something would happen to her at any time."

Neighbors Heard Shots

"We heard the shots about 5 A. M.," said Herman Schutte, a neighbor, "and got up and looked around. When we couldn't find anything we went back to bed."

"Frank found the bodies when he came in this morning."

The rifle found in the bedroom in the second floor apartment was a single shooter, police said, and would have to be reloaded for each shot.

Bullets had pierced the heads of the two girls. The mother's body lay at the foot of a mantle.

Schutte continued:

"The girls were clad in nightclothes and looked as if they were sleeping. The mother was at the foot x x x. She was dressed in night clothes, too."

"Bernie was on the floor x x x fully dressed. The rifle was beside him."

"Frank came over to my house when he found the bodies."

Wisconsin Farmer's Body to be Exhumed

Madison, Wis., Aug. 6.—(AP)—If the Crawford county juvenile court approves, the body of Orla Shaw, Soldiers Grove farmer, will be taken from its grave in Vi-roqua cemetery Saturday for a post mortem examination that may shed more light on the murder of Shaw's niece, Mildred Best, 11.

Carl N. Hill, of Madison, attorney for Mildred's 15-year-old brother, Harold, who twice confessed and then denied the slaying, proposed the date of the exhumation in an order sent to Judge Jeremiah O'Neil at Prairie du Chien today.

Although Judge O'Neil granted permission for the exhumation after a hearing at Prairie du Chien, the formal order must have his signature.

Madison scientists who investigated the case expressed belief Harold was an innocent victim shielding someone with guilty knowledge and that Shaw's death was due to poisoning instead of natural causes reported in the death certificate. He died two weeks after the girl was slain in bed.

Four Killed Today in Crash at Alma

Salem, Ill., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Sheriff Bryan Pitts said today at least four persons had been killed in a collision of an automobile and a coal truck on route 37 near Alma, about eight miles north of here.

Sheriff Pitts said a coal truck and a large sedan had collided. Officials of the Hancock funeral home, where some of the bodies were taken, said the license of the sedan (a Lincoln) was issued to Benjamin A. Denby of 701 E. 74th st., Chicago.

The sheriff reported injured persons were taken to the Salem hospital. Conflicting reports were that five persons were killed in the crash.

SENATOR DIXON ON 2 IMPORTANT COMMITTEES

Will Investigate Relief and Pensions Administration

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 6—(AP)—Only one senator regarded as being allied with the Horner administration will sit on the special commission charged with advance preparation of a program for the 1939 legislative session.

He is Melvin Thomas, first-term Democrat from Charleston.

Lieut. Gov. John Stelle, in announcing the senate appointments late yesterday, did not include Robert M. Harper of East Moline, who has been floor spokesman for Governor Horner's outnumbered supporters in the upper house.

Membership on the new commission, or "legislative council," includes president pro tem George M. Maypole and Harold G. Ward, spokesman for the Chicago city hall. Other Democrats on it are Prof. T. V. Smith, Joseph Mendel and John Broderick, all of Chicago, and appropriations chairman W. E. C. Clifford of Champaign. Republican members are Earl B. Searcy of Springfield, Richard J. Barr of Joliet and Thomas P. Gunning of Princeton.

Speaker Louie E. Lewis has not announced the appointment of house members on the special commissions created by the legislature.

Stelle's senate appointments put only one downstate on the two five-man $100,000 commissions to attend and provide exhibits at the New York and San Francisco World Fairs in 1939. Louis J. Menges, East St. Louis Democrat, was placed on the San Francisco junket, but other nine places went to Cook county senators, including Ward and Maypole.

Trade Review

New York, Aug. 6—(AP)—With hot weather spurring demand for summer goods, retail trade volume established further gains in many areas during the past week, Dun & Bradstreet said today in their weekly review.

All leading centers of distribution reported larger sales than for the week preceding, the gains ranging from three to eight per cent.

The estimated volume of retail distribution for the country as a whole was estimated at from eight to 20 per cent larger than for the corresponding week last year.

"Summer clearance sales and August promotional events joined to incite consumer interest in a wider range of merchandise," said the summary.

"Fall market week assemblies brought more activity to wholesale centers with commitments outstandingly generous in districts adjoining the agricultural areas."

Retail sales in the Middle West exceeded last years by 12 to 15 per cent, the review stated, "supported mainly by the increase in agricultural areas."

Violations of Small Loan Act Result in Action by the State

Protests Taking 'Gratuity' from Liquor Institute

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 6—(AP)—Arthur S. Smith, chairman of the Illinois Liquor Control Commission, said today he had sent letters of protest to every liquor commissioner in the United States against acceptance of a $5,000 "gratuity" from the Distilled Liquor Spirits Institute.

The contribution, he said, was made to help meet expenses of the convention of the national conference of state liquor commissioners at Mackinac Island, Mich., July 18 to 21.

"It is wholly unthinkable for any body of men sworn to enforce the liquor laws to accept contributions directly or indirectly from those whom it is their duty to control," Smith said in the letter.

Hollywood.—Home is the sailor, home from the sea, and the hunter home from the hill. Or to put it another way, Robert Young is making a picture on his home lot.

It's an "A" picture, with Joan Crawford. He did one other picture with Joan on the Metro lot, but that was four years ago. This time it looks as if he has "arrived."

The other night a preview audience, which had just seen "I Met Him In Paris", spontaneously applauded when Young stepped on the screen in a supporting role. Two years ago an exhibitor told me the best way he knew to save wear and tear on his seats was to put Robert Young's name on the marquee.

Bob himself, after six years in this upside-down business, is a little wary.

"I've had spurts like this before," he says. "This time I hope it's the real thing, but—do you know the motto of the Palm Springs Yacht Club?"

(It's "You're only as good as your last picture.")

He Believes It

"If you like mottoes," says Bob, "that's a good one to frame."

He has traveled a great deal, by land and by sea, since he broke into pictures as a juvenile of 24. He crossed the ocean for a couple of English pictures, and by land he's traveled all over Hollywood. When Metro wasn't using him in "B" pictures he was easily borrowed.

"I liked it," he says. "I've had experience I couldn't have had any other way. I figure that in 42 pictures I've had 36 different directors, and learned—I hope—something different from each of them. On the lot here I'd have about 10, no more. Right now I'm working under the only woman director, Dorothy Arzner, and that's another experience."

Doesn't Know Why

He has no great theory to explain the long doldrums he experienced professionally, nor to throw light on the sudden change in his fortunes. Unless, for the latter, it's Wesley Ruggles and "I Met Him In Paris". Actors don't really have theories about such things, he says. They may make them up, but most of them go along from day to day, do their job as well as they can, and play golf in the interim, hoping their luck will last. They don't observe and take stock periodically. And neither does he.

Right now, for instance, he's concerned about a vacation. He's had a number of brief ones, but never a vacation he could call his own. He's always had to be within hailing distance of a telephone, so the studio could call him back. That went for his honeymoon, too. And he was called back.

This time, if he gets a vacation, he's going to disappear. Maybe rent a trailer, and take his family along — Mrs. Young and little Carol Ann and the baby that's due in September.

The visitor at Paramount had inquired of W. C. Fields whether his nose were real or putty.

"Madame," said Fields, "I am surprised. I acquired this nose with a great deal of expense and trouble, through the use of secret formulas!"

SECOND TRADE COMPACT WITH RUSSIA SIGNED

Washington, Aug. 6.—(AP)—President Roosevelt proclaimed today a new commercial agreement with Soviet Russia by which that country agrees to purchase at least $40,000,000 in American products during the next year.

This is an increase of $10,000,000 over the amount of goods the Soviet government obligated itself to buy in this country by a somewhat similar agreement which expired on July 12.

In return, the United States granted unconditional most-favored-nation commercial treatment to Russia for the first time.

This means it will give that nation the benefit not only of all tariff concessions but of all other commercial privileges and advantages it accords to other countries.

The state department said the new compact became effective on August 4 with an exchange of notes at Moscow between Ambassador Joseph E. Davies and Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Commissioner for Foreign Affairs.

It described the agreement as "evidence of the intention of the Soviet government with respect to trade with the United States to continue to pursue policies and take actions in harmony with the purpose of the (American) trade agreements act."

"UP TO SENATE"

Washington, Aug. 6.—(AP)—President Roosevelt refused to take a public stand today on a suggested special session of the congress in the fall to take up farm legislation.

Asked at a press conference if he were in sympathy with the move in the senate where 40 senators have signed a petition favoring an extra session in October, the president said that was up to the senate.

Simultaneously at the Capitol, Speaker Bankhead, Majority Leader Rayburn (D-Tex.) and Chairman Jones (D-Tex.) of the house agriculture committee, told a caucus of approximately 60 farm state representatives that they saw no necessity for a special session. They assured the meeting that such legislation would be made the "first orders of business" when congress convenes in January.

On Next Year's Crops

Each said they would assure Roosevelt and congress, as well as farmers, that crop control legislation would be enacted in time to apply to next year's crops, except winter wheat.

In connection with the special session discussion in the senate, Democratic Leader Barkley said yesterday that Roosevelt may call such a meeting in October or November if the senate agriculture committee is ready to present a detailed crop control and price stabilization program.

Simultaneously, it was learned that Secretary Wallace will lead a squad of top-ranking farm administration officials into the corn belt in the next two weeks to discuss next year's soil conservation program.

Some of these meetings will be mass picnics at which Wallace and his assistants will speak.

'Arbitrary'

Action of New Dealers Toward Illinois Is so Designated

Washington, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Representative Laurence F. Arnold of Newton, Ill., said today he believed the social security board's action last Friday in suspending grants to Illinois for old age pensions was "arbitrary."

The board suspended payments on the ground that administration of the Illinois old age pension law was "inefficient" and not in keeping with the requirements of the social security act. The board subsequently said it would re-examine the Illinois situation with a view to resuming grants if the state showed progress toward meeting the board's requirements.

Arnold said in a statement that he felt the state had done "a very good job under the circumstances."

"Illinois had more applicants for pensions than any other state," Arnold said, "more than double the number at first expected."

"After the state law was passed it was not possible to be as thorough in handling the cases as if more time had been available. The state office force was intended to handle only half the number of applicants which came in. The number was double both the state and the federal government's estimate."

"Through unrelenting efforts of Governor Horner corrections in the state law were made on the eve of adjournment of the last legislative session. These became effective July 8, and the state department had little opportunity to begin operating under them before the federal security board suspended payments."

HALF DOWN THE LIST

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Mailing out July old age pensions checks for Livingston county, the auditor's office today was about half through the downstate list but hadn't received the assistance roll for Cook county.

O. R. Taylor, the auditor's revenue clerk, said the delayed warrants are written and mailed as fast as the list of pensioners is received from John C. Weigel, administrative assistant in the department of public welfare, who has been given the job of reorganizing the division of old age assistance.

A. L. Bowen, director of public welfare declined to comment on the pension situation upon his return from Washington, where he got the Federal Social Security Board to promise to make another investigation in two weeks with a view of withdrawing the suspension of matching grants to Illinois.

The director said Weigel's reorganization was correcting administrative features criticized in Federal reports.

July payments are on the maximum $30 monthly basis, but have been delayed due to late receipt of the last Federal grant and the reorganization of the office headed by Superintendent James H. Andrews, former mayor of Kewanee.

Weigel is sending the pensions out by counties on an alphabetical basis, except that Cook county's big list hasn't yet been completed. Full payment of August pensions will depend upon the receipt of another Federal grant.

RURAL BANKERS 'FOUNDERS DAY' OBSERVED HERE

Officers, Agents and Their Ladies Enjoyed Fine Banquet

The third annual Founder's Day of the Rural Bankers Life Insurance Company of this city was held yesterday afternoon at Petersen's Rainbow Inn, west of Dixon on the Lincoln Highway. In addition to officers of the company, the event welcomed the agency force and their ladies, all of whom enjoyed a sumptuous dinner served at 12:30, which was followed by an interesting program. George Prescott presided as toastmaster and in opening the program, expressed the appreciation of the officials to the agents for the fine record of business written during the past 30-day period.

Robert M. Green of Minneapolis, Minn., an independent actuary and insurance counselor and author of the book, "Insurance Blindness", was the principal speaker. In his talk he spoke of the various forms of policies presented to the public for acceptance and showed the fallacy of building a cash savings account and then losing it in the event of a claim by death. In his remarks he proved conclusively that banking and savings be divided from life insurance and the latter carried for protection only.

The over premium charged to create a bank account, should be placed in a savings account or invested in secure building and loan or baby bonds or banking bonds for protection only and should be available at all times to pay claims of the policy holders, as well as being available for the use of the policy holder without interest being charged for the use of his own money," Mr. Green said.

Agent Gave Talk

John Mullens of Western Springs, Ill., an agent, gave an inspiring talk to members of the sales force, stressing sales personality. He stressed the importance of using personally developed and not stock sales methods in selling insurance and advised the agents to study carefully the product to be offered to the prospect and then sell both the policy and personality.

Robert Telford of Chicago, a native of Shannon, Ill., and editor of The Insurance Examiner, a national trade insurance publication, related his experiences of the past 28 years in that field. The public, he stated, was demanding actual cost insurance, commonly known as pure protection. He strongly favored the elimination of bank savings from insurance, stating that it was no more essential that a policy holder be required to provide a bank savings in life insurance than in purchasing automobile insurance. He stated that a form of actual cost insurance permitted the buying public to carry more protection at a lesser cost, which was the foundation for the demand for life insurance. In closing his remarks, the speaker predicted that the Rural Bankers Life Insurance Company would go a long way in the insurance field due to the fact that they presented to the public a form of insurance which was rapidly becoming popular.

Dr. S. E. Wirth of Evanston, chief medical examiner for the company, expressed his appreciation to members of the sales force for their cooperation in obtaining details in applications, which greatly reduced the demands upon his office.

Ray S. Kline, agency director, invited the agents to a round table discussion which was held in the home offices in the Geisenheimer building and which concluded a most enjoyable and interesting observation of the third annual Founder's Day celebration.

Wisconsin Pickets Can Go as Far as They Like: Courts

Milwaukee, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The Wisconsin Supreme Court re-affirmed the right of labor unions to picket an establishment even where there is no strike, or when none of the firm's employees is a member of the union, in a 4 to 3 decision June 19, 1936.

The high court's decision upheld a Milwaukee Circuit court ruling in which Judge D. W. Sullivan decided members of the Furniture Clerks' Union had the right to picket the American Furniture Co. store. Judge Sullivan announced his decision October 1, 1936, but limited the number of pickets who might march in front of the store.

By UNCLE BUD

Miss Rose Whipp, chief nurse, is off duty for a few days. During her absence Mrs. Nora Anderson is acting chief nurse.

Charles Moyer has returned to duty greatly refreshed by ten days spent at his home at Pary, Ill.

Your correspondent has received the following letter which is reproduced for the information of all interested, viz:

San Diego, Calif., July 25, 1937.

Uncle Bud, Dixon State Hospital, Dixon, Ill.

Dear Uncle Bud:

Your assistance is desired in locating the present whereabouts of a party whose first name is Truman and is believed to be an employee of your hospital. One of the most personable young ladies in this vicinity who owns a large orange grove in her own right is desirous of locating this party with a view to corresponding with him. Any assistance that you may be able to give us will be greatly appreciated.

Yours very truly,

STAR DETECTIVE AGENCY,

By J. BROWN, Mgr.

Lawrence "Jerry" Gorman denied a report last evening that he had wagered $416,737,477 Chinese cash against three times that the White Sox would finish in the current American League race ahead of the St. Louis Browns. "This report," said Mr. Gorman, "was started by President Tony Guzardo of the Polar Bear club who is jealous of me because he has been unable to place a similar bet for some time."

To room with J. Henry Wilson, the pride of the Alexander county democracy, is always pleasant except on those rare occasions when Henry has the blues. Yesterday, as this column was being prepared, Henry had a severe attack of the blues. We have seen Henry have many such but this one was so severe that the air around the mule stable was so blue that it could be cut with a knife. While this was going on your correspondent answered the telephone to have the operator say, "Please say to Mr. Wilson that the Plymouth will be out this evening." After conveying this message to our roommate the transformation was indeed remarkable. From a person with a confirmed grouch he switched to the Henry all of us know and admire so in a shorter time that it takes to write these lines, we wonder why.

Youthful Robber is Shot by Victim in Chicago Hotel

Chicago, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Roderick M. McIsaac, 19, was shot and wounded critically today by a hotel auditor he had robbed of $520.

MacIsaac, a bellboy in a downtown hotel, was shot twice by William Armstrong, 42-year-old auditor at the fashionable Edgewater Beach hotel, who had been forced a few minutes earlier to hand the money over to the youth.

Armstrong said he was in the cashier's cage when MacIsaac stepped up and said: "Give me the money."

As the youth fled, Armstrong seized a pistol from a drawer and fired three shots. MacIsaac collapsed after he was seized by John Lofgren, hotel doorman.

PRICE RISE ANALYZED

General index figures on rise of commodity prices may convey one meaning, while an analysis that tells which prices have changed, and why they have changed may convey another. This fact is emphasized by George E. Roberts, economist, in connection with tables explaining department of labor figures.

"It is evident from these tables that farm products and raw materials—not the products of 'capitalistic' industry—led the price advances from the spring of 1936 to the spring of 1937," he says. "In other words, responsibility for the movement does not lie with the highly organized, so-called 'monopolistic' industries, said to be 'controlled by concentrated wealth'; on the contrary, as we shall see, the influence of the latter was constantly against the rising trend, and effectively so.

"Obviously an important factor in the general rise of prices in the last year has been the general drought which shriveled the crops in July and August, 1936, as may be seen by the price line of the chart. It was the more so, because droughts and floods in earlier years had cleared away the surplus stocks of farm products which had caused the low prices of 1931 and 1932, and thus set the stage for the rise of living costs, and the resultant demands for higher wages all around the circle.

"Two wage increases in the steel industry, of 10 percent each, one on Nov. 16, 1936, and the other on March 16, 1937, were included in the rise of steel products, and must be allowed for there.

"It is also noteworthy that while prices of crude steel products advanced less than 25 percent, in the regular channels of trade, active bidding for scrap steel in the open market caused that price to rise more than three times as much. This seems to acquit the steel industry of the implied 'conspiracy' charge, for costs other than wages also had risen."

It becomes apparent, then, that to the extent that the price increase has been the result of drought and its removal of farm surpluses, the price structure may be honeycombed. Return of large crops and the hog surplus will be likely to deflate the price averages.

Shortening of the work week to forty hours necessarily has an influence on costs and prices. This is an arbitrary influence, not subject to the laws of supply and demand, as are the elements of agriculture.

Fewer hours of labor without reduction of pay establish a permanent additional cost, to be paid by the farmers and other producers of primary products.

PRETENDING TO FORGET EDWARD

Lip service is done in England to the idea that Edward, Duke of Windsor, is forgotten. British, coming to America, pretend that Edward is no more, so far as Great Britain is concerned.

It is not strange, however, that pretense can not contend successfully with fact. Interest in Edward and his bride still abounds in America. Can it be less in the British isles, where he was idolized as a king?

Though some newspapers are of a will to blot the former ruler out of the life of England and the English people, of course there are others that know of the latent interest in Edward, the human interest, and are disposed to make the most of it by giving readers pictures of the wandering duke and his interesting bride, for whom he gave up his throne.

When a king gives up his throne for the woman he loves, that makes a story that has everything that makes fiction good. It is impossible to end such a story by pretending it isn't there.

MOST BRAZEN BIT OF CORRUPTION

Sale of Democratic convention books, bearing the autograph of Franklin D. Roosevelt, president of the United States, at $250 each to corporations as a means of collecting campaign funds from organizations prohibited from making such contributions has been a matter of public discussion for some weeks.

It is a most brazen bit of corruption, which puts in the shade all the petty deals of campaign managers heretofore exposed.

Now comes the disclosure that neither the Roosevelt committee nor its distributing agency has taken the trouble to deliver books to some who paid $250 each for them.

Which brings the following comment from Frank R. Kent, Washington writer for the Baltimore Sun, leading democratic newspaper:

"In other words, after blackjacking the corporations into buying something they did not want and for which they had not the slightest use at a ridiculously exorbitant price, they have not bothered to do anything except take the money."

As we have said repeatedly, the underworld methods of party management and of government have been moved down from the city of New York and its notorious Tammany hall to the seat of the government of the United States.

Blackjacking corporations into paying $250 for a book of the Democratic convention, with the signature of the president of the United States placed on it as an affirmation that he was in on the deal, this a very old deal, is just the same as the precinct captain collecting protection money from the keepers of gambling joints and others who live in fear of exercise of police powers.

Since all the power has been moved to Washington, every corporation lives in fear of the police power of the New Deal.

In those circumstances, will a corporation stand for the stickup? It will.

Mr. Kent makes some terse comment, as follows: "In behalf of the president it has been officially explained that he signed his name on blank pieces of paper and did not know for what purpose the signatures were to be used.

"As Mr. Arthur Krock, in the New York Times, pertinently asks: 'For whom did he do this?' and 'What did they tell him, anyhow?'

"It leaves a lot of unanswered questions—that explanation. But it is the only one that has been offered and apparently the only one that will be. And the explanation as to the nondelivery of the books is simply nonexistent. None whatever is made."

In this connection it is related that inquiry at the Roosevelt party headquarters brings the answer that "The man who knows about this is on vacation and will not return for a long time."

Soundly reasoning that an administration that would permit or excuse so transparent a racket can not have much scruple about doing anything else, Mr. Kent reaches the logical conclusion:

"In an administration which prates of 'its purity,' loudly proclaims its own high-mindedness and habitually lectures those who do not applaud it, upon their low moral standards and lack of business ethics, that is hypocrisy in its most disgusting form."

But that is only running true to form. Our demagogues who draw robes of purity about them and point the finger of scorn at others, arraigning class against class, usually turn out just that way. Their political morals are as low as the political morals of the underworld, and that is pretty low.

Brain Twizzlers

By PROF. J. D. FLINT

You have probably heard many stories about precious stones of fabulous value. Here is an unusual one about a part of the collection of crown jewels of a little country in Southern Europe. One piece, in the shape of a cross, was composed of matchless rubies. It was necessary to repair the cross and the cautious owner counted the rubies as a safety measure in front of the jeweler. The jeweler noticed that the owner counted fifteen rubies from the head to the foot and fifteen from the foot to the end of either arm. The jeweler arranged the setting so that the count remained the same. How did he do it?

You and Your Nation's Affairs

War No Balm to Business

By ELIOT JONES

Professor of Transportation and Public Utilities, Stanford University

One of the most ominous signs of the time is the great increase in expenditures for armament. Great Britain plans to spend about $1,500,000,000 annually for military and naval purposes during the next five years or about three times as much as was budgeted only three years ago. The French Chamber of Deputies has recently approved a special grant of about $900,000,000 for military roads industrial mobilization, and the extension of its line of steel and concrete fortresses along the Belgian and Swiss boundaries. This is in addition to the regular expenditures for national defense, which are about twice as great as in 1933. Germany, Italy, Russia, and Japan are feverishly building up their war machine, and breathing defiance to prospective enemies. Even the small European countries are joining the armament race.

The so-called "defense" expenditures of European nations are rapidly approaching the war level. Twenty per cent of the national income, and more than fifty per cent of ordinary tax income, is being used in some countries in preparing for war. The cost is so high because effective preparation for war involves nowadays not only the maintenance of armies and the construction of fortifications, but also vast facilities for producing airplanes, tanks, trucks, munitions, etc., not to mention huge reserves of raw materials and foodstuffs as a protection against blockades by hostile nations.

The carrying on of this vast war program necessarily means that less labor and fewer materials are available to produce the goods that are needed to satisfy people's ordinary wants. Expenditures for armament inevitably reduce the standard of living, as is evidenced in various foreign countries, where the people are compelled to "tighten their belts" in order that the production of war materials may be expedited. There is an increase in the production of certain goods, but a corresponding decline in the production of other goods. Moreover, the goods that are produced in greater amount are to a considerable extent diverted to war uses, so that the people derive no real satisfaction from their production of goods, but a corresponding decline in the production of other goods. Moreover, the goods that are produced in greater amount are to a considerable extent diverted to war uses, so that the people derive no real satisfaction from their production of goods, but a corresponding decline in the production of other goods.

Unfortunately the harmful effects of expenditures for war are not always seen; in fact, many people look upon them as "good for business." It is observed that the demand is now great for steel, copper, nickel, airplanes, etc.; and it is also observed that the producers of such supplies can raise wages and prices (thus benefiting the employees and the stockholders). This of course is exactly what happened during the World War, but as we now know the prosperity thus induced was not real prosperity. It was an artificial prosperity based on a profligate use of labor and resources and credit. It added on succeeding generations a tremendous burden of debt and taxation; it brought on an inflationary era that produced immense suffering; and it was the principal cause of the Great Depression, from which we are now happily emerging.

The fact is that real and permanent prosperity results only from the balanced production of goods and services that minister to the needs of the people. Vast expenditures in preparation for war may give a temporary fillip to industry, but their long-run effect is to reduce the material well-being of the people, and to check progress toward the realization of a higher standard of living.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. I must confess, girls, I'm plumb flabbergasted to learn from the Literary Digest that a research by the psychology class of Westminster College, Pennsylvania, showed that the girls who dressed in white got more offers of marriage than those decked out in colors. They reason that white reminds one of moonlight, and moonlight reminds one of love and love reminds a man to propose to a woman. I lectured recently at Westminster and I wondered why I saw so many girls dressed in white.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. The savage medicine man who beats the tom tom certainly believes music has charms to soothe the ailing breast and the liver, stomach and nerves as well. According to Doron K. Antrim, editor of Metronome in the Rotarian, music is now being used extensively by psychiatrists not only in hospitals for the insane but in aiding people with ordinary depressions.

3. It does if you would like to learn more because you can cover so much more ground. Any one can improve his speed of reading and he will understand what he reads and remember it just as well—or better. The main thing is to practice getting whole words and even whole lines and phrases as single pictures. Any one who sees each separate letter or even each separate word has to read slowly because rapidity of reading depends largely on rapidity of eye movements.

DAILY HEALTH

BY DR. IAGO GALDSTON

Protective Food Substances

Many authorities on nutrition maintain that the average adult diet is lacking in the "protective food substances." Principal among these are calcium and vitamins A and D.

The common sources of these substances are, for calcium and vitamin A, milk and milk foods, and for vitamin D, as well as also for vitamin A, the fish oils, notably cod-liver and halibut.

To date the protest of our nutrition experts seems to have made but very little dent on the dietary practices of the adult population. Perhaps one reason for this unresponsiveness is that the deficiencies do not result in any readily evident and gross impairment of health. It is difficult for the average individual, who feels that he is getting along pretty well, to visualize how much better he might feel, and be, were he to improve his diet by the inclusion of more milk and milk foods, and by consuming added portions of vegetables.

Though medical research and clinical experience have brought forth evidences to back up the contention of the nutrition authorities that the average adult diet is defective, these proofs have not been sensational. Nevertheless, their cumulative significance must not be overlooked.

St. Mary Abbotts hospital in London recently issued a report on a study conducted during 1936 on the effect of calcium and vitamins A and D on the incidence of pregnancy toxemia. Though this study deals with the pregnant woman, it has a significant bearing on the general subject of adult nutrition.

For, it is argued, if the average adult dietary is adequate, the extra nutritional burden placed upon the pregnant woman should not seriously tax her resources. On the other hand, if pregnancy does tax her resources, then there is warrant to assume that the intake of the protective substances of the average adult is not adequate.

In this study 100 pregnant women were divided into two groups, one of which was fed extra quantities of foods containing calcium and vitamins A and D. The other did not receive these. The results were impressive for the first group, compared to the second, which suffered only half the number of toxic symptoms.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

GOD FEEDS A PEOPLE

Text: Exodus 16:11-20; 17:3-6

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.

Editor of Advance

The symbolism of the promised land and of God's leading the children of Israel from bondage to liberty comes into every detail of that momentous march of a people.

Here in our lesson is the story of the quails and the manna, with the teaching that the Lord will provide for those who hear His word and obey His call.

Bread from heaven was this manna, and we are apt to forget in the intricacies of modern life and in the abundant productivity of our modern world, exploited with all the wonders of agricultural machinery, that all bread comes from heaven.

Man cannot create so much as a loaf without the help of the mystery of nature, and the miracle of the manna is, after all, no more wonderful than the miracle of our daily bread. It is a miracle simply of a somewhat different sort and different emphasis, and possibly it requires a different sort of apprehension and belief.

Moreover, the symbolism reaches very deeply into the realities of human responsibility. Manna was given only for the day. It was not more miracle by which everything was provided for man, with no responsibility resting upon himself. If he did not do his part in gathering the manna while it was fresh, there was none left over for the next day, for it became spoiled if they sought to keep it.

It is a great lesson in receiving and using today what God gives in opportunities and resources that we may not have tomorrow; and we all depend for the effectiveness of our journey through life upon this immediate use of all that God gives.

With the hunger for bread was the thirst for water, and thirst affected these children of Israel as it has affected the thirsty in every age. They murmured against Moses. Why had he brought them out of Egypt, that they and their children and their cattle should suffer and die?

Like the manna, the water came through the miraculous smiting of the rock. Here is the symbol of refreshing and renewing, of God's provision of leaving water for the discouraged and famished.

We speak of this as a miracle, but it is no more wonderful than the miracle by which the water comes to us. Moreover, the water that came from the rock may have been a natural spring. It was the method of sacred writers to attribute all such things to the provision and act of God; and they were right in seeing the hand of God, where we today tend to forget all about God, and speak only of "Nature."

Our failure to see wonderment and miracle in natural processes is only because we choose to call nothing a miracle that we can explain according to usual experience and laws; but the conclusions of our experience and our laws do not explain things or account for sources of power and of blessing.

The mysteries by which man's wants are supplied are none the less mysteries because we choose to call some things "natural" and other things "miracle."

The lesson of the story of God's feeding the people in the wilderness and of satisfying their thirst is that all along the journey of life, the goodness of God and the rich provision of His grace are available for man.

Great Britain is now using planes to fly over the main traffic arteries in an attempt to solve her traffic problems.

Mountain Climber
Rescued after 41
Hours on a Ledge

Morley, Alta., Aug. 6.—(AP)—A badly battered mountain climber, 21-year-old Humphrey Cooper, ended his vacation today after spending 41 harrowing hours endangered on a mountain ledge.

Cooper, semi-conscious from hunger and with head injuries sustained when he tumbled down a 1,200-foot slope of End mountain to the perilous ledge, was rescued by Victor Kutschera, an Austrian guide.

The guide reached Cooper yesterday, fastened a rope sling about him and brought him to safety in a five-hour struggle upward over jagged rocks. Injuries to his eye and scalp were dressed and he was taken to a Y. M. C. A. camp near here.

Britain and Italy
to Talk Over Long Standing Disputes

Rome, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The Italian government announced today that British and Italian diplomats would meet in Rome for formal conversations to settle differences between the two countries.

Count Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador to London, proposed the conversations to British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, who recently exchanged friendship letters with Premier Mussolini.

Yesterday, the government said, Sir Robert Vansittart, British permanent undersecretary of foreign affairs, notified Count Grandi the proposal had been accepted.

During the Grandi-Vansittart talk it was agreed that the next few weeks would be dedicated to preparing material for the conversations.

Rome and London have been at odds since Britain insisted on imposition of sanctions against Italy during conquest of Ethiopia. The tension was renewed with the outbreak of the Spanish civil war.

In 1911, the first coast-to-coast trip by air took 54 days. Today, the eastbound coast-to-coast trip is scheduled for 15 1-3 hours. Westbound planes take a little more than 17 hours.

Nanking Fears—

tempts to enlist American aviators for the Chinese army.

Previously the Tokio government had been reported ready to call Washington's attention to Los Angeles dispatches quoting Russell L. Hearn as declaring 182 American pilots were ready to go to China to fly Chinese war planes.

Hirota declared the United States government would be alert to stop "any such action".

During the session, Gen. Gen Sugiyama, the minister of war, told parliament more troops were being rushed to reinforce the Japanese army in its undeclared war on China.

Temporarily suspension of American missionary activity in North China because of hostilities is "most likely" Shochi Muro, general secretary of the Tokyo Y. M. C. A., told The Associated Press.

Thinks Fears Groundless

He said, however, that fears of American missionaries that missions would be wiped out were groundless.

"Personally I do not expect any radical Japanese military action against Christians, although Yenching University at Peiping (considered by its American leaders as permanently doomed) is considerably anti-Japanese."

The war minister warned the Diet that if Chinese troops attempt to recapture the conquered Peiping and Tientsin area, and thus impair Japan's prestige, the empire might abandon its present policy of non-aggravation.

"Everything depends on the movements of China's central army," he added.

HULL STATEMENT

Washington, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Secretary Hull announced today that the law against foreign enlistment of Americans in this country would be applied "consistently" in any situation that may arise in connection with the present Sino-Japanese strife in North China.

Japanese Foreign Minister Koki was reported in Tokyo dispatches today to have told his parliament that the United States was "carefully guarding against" enlistment of American aviators with the Chinese forces.

Hull made his statement at a press conference in answering an inquiry as to whether this government was taking any action to discourage enlistments.

A short time before Chinese Ambassador C. T. Wang had called on Hull and discussed the Far Eastern crisis with him.

Lewis Inquisitive

The secretary said that the Chinese envoy had conveyed to him merely the latest information from his government and that their conversations were of a character such as they have held periodically.

In the Senate, meanwhile, Senator Lewis (D-Ill.) introduced a resolution to request of Secretary of War Woodring a report on whether the American troops stationed in China should be kept there.

The troops are in the Peiping and Tientsin area, under provisions of the Boxer protocol which allows the United States to protect its nationals there with soldiers.

Lewis' resolution would ask the secretary to advise the Senate "if not in compatible with the public interest, if there be existing reasons sufficient for holding of the present troops now stationed in China in the war zone between Tientsin and Peiping".

'Frisco Court Plea Without Precedent

San Francisco, Aug. 6.—(AP)—All 32 salesmen of an automobile distributor here joined today in a precedent-setting court action, seeking to halt a union which they charged picketed their building in an attempt to force them into membership.

The salesmen contended the picketing is illegal because they have no dispute with their employer and because there is no law requiring them to join any union against their wishes.

Superior Court Judge C. J. Goodell granted a temporary restraining order to halt picketing by members of the Retail Automobile Salesmen's union, an American Federation of Labor affiliate.

Judge Goodell set August 10 for hearing on a permanent injunction.

STORMS GIVING
CLIPPER PLANE
SEVERE TRIAL

New York, Aug. 6.—(AP)—

Stormy weather over the Atlantic today gave the Pan-American Clipper III the most rigorous test of its flights to determine the feasibility of commercial air traffic between Europe and America.

Shortly after taking off from River Shannon, at Portlaoine, Ireland, at 4:19 A. M. (9:19 P. M. CST, Thursday) on its return trip to America, the giant flying boat ran into rain and mist.

Battling a 27-mile-an-hour headwind, the plane was 200 miles from Portlaoine at 12:00 A. M. (CST), Pan-American Airways officials here reported. They said the ship had radioed it was flying only 500 feet above the waves because of a low ceiling.

It was the first all-daylight crossing of the test flights.

Captain Harold E. Gray, commanding a crew of seven, hoped to bring the Clipper down at Botwood, Newfoundland, about 1:00 P. M. (CST) after a 1,995-mile flight. The boat carried enough reserve fuel to keep it in the air for 25 hours if necessary—a safety margin of seven or eight hours. Extra food supplies also were stored in the ship.

One of the main reasons for the daylight crossing, officials said, was to test the working of radio communications which are generally considered to function better at night.

revising an amendment adopted Wednesday to limit the cost of dwelling units.

The amendment, by Senator Byrd (D-Va.), would withhold federal aid from projects in which the construction cost exceeds $4,000 a family unit or $1,000 a room.

Other senators said they would ask that the limit be made $1,400 a room with no figure fixed for the family unit.

The senate voted yesterday to prohibit expenditure of more than 20 per cent of housing funds in any one state. This restriction was suggested by Senator Tydings (D-Md.) as a substitute for a proposal by Senator Adams (D-Colo.) to distribute funds according to population.

"YELLOW KID'S"
CHICAGO HAUNTS
BEING WATCHED

"Slicker" Is One Jump Ahead of Postal Inspectors Today

Chicago, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Postal inspectors watched closely today the Chicago haunts of Joseph R. (The Yellow Kid) Weil, king of confidence men, who evaded government agents yesterday at Birmingham, Ala., where for more than a year he had posed as a doctor.

Reputed by police to have taken more than $10,000,000 from incautious investors in almost 30 years, the aging silver-tongued Weil had been sought for nearly two years on an indictment returned in New York, charging use of the mails to defraud.

Although authorities said his activities extended from coast to coast, Weil concentrated his operations until recently in Chicago. His activities here won him the sobriquet, "The Yellow Kid."

Wore "Pink" Whiskers

Sartorially perfect, Weil was noted for his "pink" whiskers until 1934, when he had the beard removed, he said, to avoid embarrassing his "double", Senator James Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois.

Police described Weil as a man who scorned "piker" dealings and on many occasions had bilked victims of $100,000 in a single transaction. Postal agents said he was wanted now for swindling some prominent New York and Washington residents of $75,000 through alleged fraudulent use of the mails.

Weil served several years in the Illinois state penitentiary on conviction of swindling $100,000 in a fake mining scheme.

Best-Dressed Woman

BY HELEN WELSHIMER

COPYRIGHT, 1937, NEW YORK

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JUDITH IRVING, heroine,
America's best dressed woman.
PHIL IRVING, Judith's extraneous husband.
MARTIN ROGERS, Judith's rival.
BRUCE KNIGHT, author, Judith's old classmate.
MILICENT BAYNE, Bruce's
protégé.

Yesterday, Judith and Millicent leave by plane for Reno. They encounter severe storms over the Rockies, the ship lowers, they are ordered to "Prepare to land!"

CHAPTER VIII

THE mountain and the airship were coming together, Judith sensed, while her thoughts crowded together until they beat against her brain. Together—but they didn't meet—they were taking a long, long time to crash. If only it would be swift—

The crash that broke the mountain's storm came then. It was sharp and definite but it did not reverberate as she had expected.
The ship shook itself with a tremendous spasm and then lay still.
Judith, thrown to the floor, felt her head bump something and knew that it hurt. Voices were raised. Someone screamed. Somebody flashed a light. People were standing up. She realized that she wasn't hurt.

"Millicent," she called.
"Judith! Are you all right?" the girl answered. "The ship stood the shock. Oh Judith, we're alive!"

"We're alive! It was good to hear. She would see Phil again, she told herself simply. Maybe the pattern would change to the old familiar one."

SHE thought then of Millicent who was thinking about Bruce and wondering at his reaction.

"He will be relieved and happy to know you're safe," Judith said, forgetting that she used an antecedent instead of Bruce's name.
"Yes, he has his own ship and knows the dangers," Millicent said. "Funny, when he'll turn any kind of a somersault that he gets all goofy about anyone else flying, isn't it? He tried to advise me
last night."

"Bruce flies?" Judith asked.
"Bruce?" Millicent laughed.
"No, not Bruce. Ronnie." Her face grew serious and rather tired.
"Bruce doesn't know that we came." The night was cold, the hills were high, and the stars were gone. A few moments before they had glimpsed death in a lonely land. Millicent drew nearer Judith.

"Judith, doesn't it hurt like the devil to love someone who doesn't want to love you? I wonder if Bruce will follow me?"
They bumped along the hill road until they reached the town where wooden houses clustered at the approach to the mines and the ranches back in the higher ranges.
Judith stretched her slim body as she alighted from the car. She looked around for her bags, found they were jammed in the plane,
would be sent on later.

Rooms at the little inn were at a premium. A rancher, standing in front of the hotel, who was starting on a trip to his home 30 miles beyond, tipped his hat and offered hospitality. Faded blue eyes smiled from a face that had weathered sun and wind and storms for 40 years. He was a man whom one could trust, Judith decided at once.

"Do you take boarders?" she asked.
"Well, not exactly. We have one young fellow there and a couple more comin' in a week or so. But you're welcome to the beds and the grub, ma'am."

There was time enough to go to Reno later. She had all of her life to reach Reno. Gray eyes shining now, Judith turned to Millicent.

"Millicent, shall we? We can proceed to Nevada any time—"
"I'd adore it! I'm not very keen on gossiping with expectant divorces anyway. And neither are you. You want a divorce about as much as I want rheumatism but you're being game. Too game, my darling! I vote for the ranch house."

THEY went into the general store, which was still open, and asked to see clothes. Judith turned away from the rack of cheap cotton dresses. Then she saw the overall counter. There were white denim overalls on display.

"Have you cotton blouses in bright colors?" she asked. The store had. She chose a turkey red, a vivid green, a navy blue, a dull yellow, and smiled as she paid the little amount charged for them as she remembered the beaded jackets—four of the lovely six—that reposed in the damaged plane.
She bought three pairs of white overalls, too, some white sneakers, and a dozen handkerchiefs.

Millicent, after a timorous look around, selected dark blue overalls and white blouses. Judith realized that the girl was trying not to copy her ideas. To her,
Judith Irving, best dressed woman in America, Millicent gave full choice of selection.

At last they were at the ranch house. Judith and Millicent were ravenously hungry. They were sleepy, too. It was 11 o'clock the next day when they appeared. A tall man, with a lean, wind-darkened face and a quick smile that played around visionary eyes, rose to meet them.

"I hear you're the new part of the household," he said. "I'm Mark Price, also a boarder."

MARK PRICE—where had she heard that name, Judith wondered. Mrs. Irving, as a name, meant nothing to the man. Appar

GOOD THOUGHTS

The deplorable conditions confronting the world today can be readjusted only by fully conforming to the divine law, and through this law obtaining great strength by humbleness and meekness, fully depending on the supreme intelligence for all direction.

—William C. Kirkpatrick.

We should have been spared much disappointment since 1918 if we had remembered Herbert Spencer's wise words: "There is no political alchemy by which you can produce golden conduct out of leaden instincts." Men and nations are saved by good will, not by political machinery.

—Dean Inge.

The course of history is steadily driving us towards the recognition that no other way of life will endure save that which is harmony with the Spirit of Christ.

—Prof. Norman Goodall, M. A.

Humanity's need is alliance with divine Mind, for through this alliance the government of God is destined to be made fully manifest.

—Christian Science Sentinel.

Obeys my voice, and I will be your God, and ye shall be my people; and walk ye in all the ways that I have commanded you, that it may be well unto you.

Amboy Pastor

Dr. J. H. Hughes, who begins his pastorate of the First Baptist church next Sunday, is a man of wide experience. He was born on a farm in Missouri and attended William Jewell college at Liberty, Mo., from which institution he graduated in 1915 with honors. During his college days he was an outstanding athlete, playing center on the college football team for three years. He took his seminary work in the divinity school of the University of Chicago. After graduation he was pastor of the First Baptist church of Mexico, Mo., for seven years. It was during his ministry in this church that the church rose to be one of the leading churches of Missouri. Later he became pastor of the Temple Baptist church of Chicago and the same progress was made there as was recorded in the Missouri pastorate. After leaving Chicago he was pastor of the First Baptist church of Chattanooga Tenn. This is one of the strongest churches in the Baptist domination, having a membership of over 2,000 and has always called the leading men of the denomination to be its pastors. Dr. Hughes was pastor of this church for seven years and during his services there constantly preached to the largest congregations in the history of the church. The Bible school of the Chattanooga church has an attendance each Sunday of about 1,200 and celebrating the fourth anniversary of Mr. Hughes' pastorate there they had 2,558 present. This is an all-time high mark for that church.

William Jewell college conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Divinity in 1933, being one of the very few men ever granted this degree by his Alma Mater. He is listed in "Who's Who Among Baptists".

Mrs. Hughes was born in Amboy and is one of the leading church organists in the Baptist denomination. They have two girls, Ruth Elizabeth and Hazel Joyce.

MANHATTAN

By George Tucker

New York.—Most of the stinging, critical barbs credited to Dorothy Parker and other town wits are not to be too much believed—they are usually the inspirations of professional gag-writers.

Nevertheless there are moments when the celebrities themselves outdo even the gagwriters, and this seems to be one of them.

Dr. Frank Black was giving an audition, and his usually limitless patience was wearing thin as the ham in a dime sandwich. Finally he interrupted an enthusiastic young tenor.

"What sort of singing is this?" Black inquired, gravely surveying the unabashed crooner.

"I'm the wondering minstrel type," he replied. "I sing as the wandering minstrels did of old."

"Then wander back on the right key," commented Black caustically. "You've been flat ever since you came in here."

Less caustic but equally enlightening was this episode, which transpired in Mickey Walker's pub near Madison Square Garden the other night.

Sunburned and rugged, Mickey was ambling through the stalls, chatting with guests, and eventually he came onto a fellow who had apparently been trying to drown himself in rum.

"You still here?" Mickey inquired. "Maybe you'd better go home and get a little rest, pal."

"Whatcha mean trying to ease me out?" growled the set, peering at the ex-champ through bleary eyes.

"Well," said Walker gently, "my bar-captain tells me you've had about 30 drinks. That's enough for any man."

"Shure, I've had 30 drinks," belowed the fellow, "but a little matter like 30 drinks can't hurt a guy. It's this steady drinking that gets a man down."

"Scram!" yelled Mickey, booting him out into Eighth avenue.

Harry Davies just called up the city editor. Harry is a p. a. and his job is to get Leon and Eddie's, a night club, mentioned as frequently as possible.

"I've got great news," he shouted. "It's colossal! It's the biggest thing I've ever done!"

"Calm yourself," suggested the city editor. "What's the story?"

Mr. Davies took a deep breath: "I've just become the father of twins!"

"So what?" said the c. e. wearily. "One out of every 88 births is twins."

Mr. Davies was depressed. But he hung on. "It's news, ain't it? It's sensational, ain't it? Say, pal, couldn't you mention Leon & Eddie's in the story?"

The city editor wearily hung up.

Meanwhile, Mr. Davies was phoning another city editor.

"I've got great news! Say, pal..."

Housewives View Meat Situation With Some Apprehension

Chicago, Aug. 6.—(AP)—An upward swing in retail pork prices was in prospect for housewives in the middlewest today as quotations for hogs on the Chicago market soared to $13.65 per hundred pounds, the highest level in 11 years.

Wholesale pork prices rose in proportion, and beef and other meats followed. Chicago packers yesterday received as high as 32 cents per pound wholesale for best, light, fresh pork loins, compared with 27.50 cents top last month and 21 cents in January. Market experts estimated the retail price will range from 10 to 15 cents higher.

A shortage of any kind of meat, they explained, means a greater demand for other kind. As a result, beef carcasses yesterday sold at from $12.50 to $24.50 per hundred pounds, as against $12 to $22.50 a month ago.

Chicago received 32,400 hogs the first four days this week, compared with 41,335 a week ago and 68,438 a year ago. Packing plants were operating hog departments at a fraction of normal capacity.

The company officials said principal light receipts was due principally to the drought and the federal crop curtailment program.

On the Chicago Board of Trade, yesterday the dollar quotation in corn was again restored to the blackboard when September soared to $1.00, or within 1/4 cent of the maximum allowed for one day and 11 cents up from the season's low made last week.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Maintaining a steady advance since June, hog prices had reached a $13.30 top today, the highest hog price here in eight years. Live-stock men predicted a peak of $14, probably next month.
